

Easter Themes Annual Style Show of DeWitt Study Club

BY MRS LEO HANSON

DeWitt— One of the highlights in the Village of DeWitt each spring is the style show sponsored by the Child Study club. The theme of this year's show was "Egg-actly For You" and all of the tickets were sold a week before show time.

Some of the unique features of the show are that all of the fashions came from a local shop, Jan's Apparel, and that all of the models are local people. Girls of all ages attend because the styles are for preschoolers right through, and including the "grandma age."

THIS SHOW is the time for localites to break out in their spring bonnets and their best bib and tuckers; it is a time to see and be seen, and if you miss the spring style show you just aren't "hep!"

General chair man of the show, Mrs Howard Woodruff was looking very smart in a beige, raw-silk, shirt waist dress. Mrs Woodruff is third vice president of the State Child Study club. Three generations were represented at her table: her mother, Mrs Oscar DeRyke, in a flower garden hat of all shades of pink; her sister, Mrs Delore Liebum and Mrs Jan Monette all of Lansing, and her young daughter, Sally.

ALL SHADES of pink were used in the decorations and on one side of the stage was a huge egg-tree with 19 dozen colored eggs on it. On the other side of the stage was white, wrought iron furniture. The back drops were various shades of pink on which spring flowers blossomed. Chairman of decorations, Mrs Dan Dallas, a petite blonde, was

Chairman of decorations, Mrs. Dan Dallas, a petite blonde, was garbed in a two-piece, sleeveless cranberry crepe dress with a pleated skirt. Mrs. Bruce Johnston and Mrs. Dan Kellin were also on her committee.

President of the club, Mrs. Dorian Carroll, was attired in green wool. Her special guest was her mother, Mrs. Albert Bidwell who motored over from Marshall for the event.

SHADES OF pink and white were also carried out in the refreshment which was a cream cheese and cherry torte. Girls from the local Girl Scout troops poured coffee. One of the major projects of the club is the sponsoring of all the local Girl Scout troops. Mrs. Roger Ling, Sr., was chairman of refreshments and also served as a model.

Another three generation group was senior model, Mrs. Roy Decker, her daughter, Mrs. Charles Ferguson who was chairman of models and Miss Kathy Ferguson who was a junior model and looking very pert as she modeled a navy shift and a blue denim swimsuit.

DeWitt Homecoming Queen, Miss Marlene Foster was modeling teen fashions as were Thelma Hansen and Sherry Kaminski.

THE YOUNGEST model was 2-year old Angela Tolson who modeled a blue denim sailor dress with perky tie like a veteran and really stole the

Miss Marlene Foster, right, models a cotton shell-knit suit with a Chanel-styled cardigan jacket with a notched collar and three-quarter length sleeves. The pullover shell is sleeveless with a notched bottom teamed with a slim-lined skirt.

Keck's daughter Michelle was a junior-Miss model and wore a beautiful pink print shift in the show.

Mrs. Albert Schulz (Jan of Jan's Apparel Shop) was looking particularly chic in a three piece pink and white knitted suit; her blond hair was done in high fashion. Her mother, Mrs. George H. Lankford, brought all the members of her club to the show.

Even broken bones couldn't keep people away. Mrs. Rex Archer was spotted in a perky red bonnet with her right arm in a cast and Miss Connie Ferguson hobbled in on a broken leg.

THE commentator for the show was Mrs. Jim White who wore a creation of her own making, a lime green, hand-knit mohair dress with a wish-bone cable stitch down each side. She had a perky bow to match in her dark hair and wore crystal jewelry.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Keith Blizard in a pink crepe dress with a high waist line and a ruffle around the hem and at the neck and Mrs. Vernon Kowalk of St. Johns who was in yellow and white, seated the guests at the beautifully decorated tables.

MRS. RUSSELL Thorburn of Lansing, state treasurer of the

THE YOUNGEST model was 2-year old Angela Tolson who modeled a blue denim sailor dress with perky tie like a veteran and really stole the show. Another fetching young model was little Julie Walter who modeled a lilac lo-torso dress and blue check baby doll p. j.'s.

One of the senior citizens spotted at the show was Mrs. Nora Hitchcock, the town's leading dressmaker. She was wearing a beautiful red velvet suit-dress that she made for her granddaughter, Karen's wedding, last month. Her granddaughter, Suzanne Phillips, modeled junior-Miss fashions in the show and looked stunning in a black culotte set.

MRS. RICHARD Keck of the table committee had as her guest her mother, Mrs. Caryl Gall, of Houghton Lake. Mrs.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Keith Blizzard in a pink crepe dress with a high waist line and a ruffle around the hem and at the neck and Mrs. Vernon Kowalk of St. Johns who was in yellow and white, seated the guests at the beautifully decorated tables.

MRS. RUSSELL Thorburn of Lansing, state treasurer of the Child Study club, was seen at a front table. She was wearing a beige suit and a brown felt hat with a beige band.

MODELING lady-in-waiting fashions was Mrs. James Decatur. Some other models were Marsha Schavey, Mrs. Richard Kruger, Mrs. Harry Ianhart and Mrs. Glen Curren.

Cochairman of the affair, Mrs. Richard Ritter, was unable to attend as she was hospitalized by an automobile accident a week ago. Ticket chairman was Mrs. Frank Tolson who wore a dress in three shades of blue. Chairman of publicity was Mrs. John Carter; posters, Mrs. Keith Blizzard; programs, Mrs. Ver-

ALBERT and Robert Young provided accordion and tenor banjo music midway during the show and wound up with Irving Berlin's "Easter Bonnet."

It is truly remarkable what a club consisting of 12 members can do. Over 300 persons attended the show.

Besides sponsoring the Girl Scout troops, the profits from this year's show will go to buy educational records for the elementary schools. In past years, —this is the sixth annual show —they have purchased record players and base ball equipment for the schools.

The village takes off its hat to this hard working group of girls!

Suds Are Not Sissy

Promote the idea that clean work clothes and work gloves are required on professional jobs. No machanic tolerates dirty gear. If you teach that cleanliness helps preserve the things a youngster treasures, he will see nothing sissy about using suds on everything from bikes to baseballs.
