Matson and Skorich office was home to Bradfield family

By KEN COIN

Walter Hubble came to the area in 1837 as an 18-year-old member of the "Waterloo Joint-Stock Co." which founded Wacousta. He was (with perhaps a brother) a merchant there for the company until 1840 and remained a resident until 1844 when he moved to some government land he had purchased in 1836 in Essex Township (north and west of present St. Johns). He remained there only a few years before moving back south, to DeWitt, in 1846. Here he established himself in partnership with Courtland Hill in a general store on the northeast corner of Washington and Bridge (on the present site of Terranova's).

That same year (1846), Hubble purchased the lots where the Matson & Skorich offices are now located and, in 1848, built the present building as his home. He apparently arrived in DeWitt with a political reputation for, aside from his vocation as a merchant, he was elected county clerk in 1846 and held the office until 1850. He was also elected justice of the peace in 1848. His political career seems to have offered a sufficient wage for it was also in 1848 that his partnership with Courtland Hill dissolved and Hill (Bengal Township's first settler in 1837) returned to his own substantial homestead in that township.

The old Randolph Strickland home at 202 E. Washington, currently the law offices of Matson and Skorich.

Although this photograph was taken over 50 years ago, the house itself was, at that time, nearly 100 years old. The picture shows a unique feature original to the house, a recessed porch (on the right) which faced the west. Tending to her flower beds in the center is Jessie Bradfield: the house was "home" to the Bradfield family for many years in the middle of this century. Ca. 1939, Helen Hiltz, photographer; courtesy of Dan Matson.

For Hubble, what appeared to be a political career on the rise was simply a flash in the pan. He died in the fall of 1851 at the young age of 34 and was buried in the DeWitt Cemetery.

Randolph and Mary (Gooch) Strickland bought this home soon after their marriage in 1851. (You'll remember Mary: it was her mother who had the misfortune of falling off the packet boat along the Erie Canal.) The site was conveniently located for

About 1870, the home was purchased by Elisha and Frances (Marshall) Pike, who remained here until the 1880's when they became part of the large migration of DeWitt families who relocated to the area of Wolverine, Michigan.

Except for the elimination of the porches, the house remains much as it originally did nearly 150 years ago. Several original interior doors, with thumb latch catches, remain intact. The solid structure was built with post and beam construction and the unique hip-roof is self-supporting, offering a large second floor "chamber", originally accessed by a tiny closet staircase.

WILLIAM C. HUGGETT

Respected and Beloved Dewitt Citizen Passes Away.

Huggett

William C. Huggett was born in East Grinstead, England, December 31, 1827. He departed from this life at the home of his sister, Mrs. Agnes Scott, in Dewitt village, Tuesday, November 25, 1913. His sickness was of less than a week's duration.

Mr. Huggett accompanied his parents to New York in 1836. He came to Michigan in 1848. In 1850 he was married to Miss Annie Green of Oakland county. The marriage took place at Dewitt. In 1854 he took up 80 acres of land in Berlin township, St. Clair county. At that time the country was a wilderness. Their nearest market was at Romeo.

Mr. Huggett enlisted in Co. H, 4th Mich. Infantry and served two years. He was with General Thomas at Nashville and was in all the battles between Thomas and Hood. After his discharge he followed farming as a business.

Mr. Huggett has always been a staunch republican and has been very active in political matters. He has been delegate to several state conventions. He was postmaster at Belle River during President Harrison's administration. He was a charter member of the Charles S. Travers Post of the G. A. R. at Capac, Mich.

Mr and Mrs Huggett were members of the M. E. church. He was a great lover of flowers as all will testify that passed his yard. He was a great reader and kept posted on the events of the day. Mr. Huggett well knew the hardships and privations incident to the life of a pioneer in a new country. He has witnessed the mighty forest give way to fine farms and beautiful homes. He was a member of the Clinton County Pioneer Society.

Deceased was one or eleven children, six of whom survive him: Jesse Huggett, older than the deceased, of Cincinnati, Ohio; John and Thomas Huggett of Bingham, Mrs. Susan Farrier of Riley, Mrs. Jane Smith of St. Johns, Mrs. Agnes Scott of Dewitt, beside a large circle of other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Huggett died six years ago. After her death he came to Olive, Clinton county and lived with Mrs. Scott, and when she moved to Dewitt about five years ago, he accompanied her there.

A few years ago he made all his arrangements for the great change that awaits us all. He chose the undertaker and the minister and where he wished his funeral to be held, also his burial place and his friends have followed his wishes as best they could.

Mr. Huggett was of a genial disposition, always having a kind word and smile for all. He was loved and respected by all and will be greatly missed by all who knew him. Truly we may say of him—"The world is better for his having lived in it."

The funeral of Wm. C. Huggett was held at St. Johns and his body laid to rest in St. Johns cemetery, according to his wishes, Friday, November 28th, 1913. In making his arrangements he requested a special car should be provided to carry the relatives and neighbors. The car was well filled with relatives and sympathizing friends. Rev. J. H. Wilcox, of the M. E. church at St. Johns, officiated. The floral offerings were beautiful. The beautiful oak casket was decorated with the stars and stripes, which he loved so well. The Post and Corps of St. Johns attended in a body, at Mr. Huggett's request. Hackes were waiting to take the funeral party to the cemetery, where the Post took charge of the services and buried him in accordance with their ritual.

Huggett

Thomas Huggett, Sr., well known to older settlers of this section of Rich county, died in the asylum at Mt. Pleasant, January 15, 1892, aged 87 years. He was a native of England, and had lived in this township since 1852. Death deprived him of his wife in 1881; he was again married in 1889, which wife with several children survive. About a year ago Mr. Huggett lost his reasoning powers through the agency of la grippe, and it was found necessary to send him to the asylum for care and treatment.

Hurd

DECEASED.—In De Witt, on Friday, the 17th day of June last, Mrs. LUCY HURD Topping, wife of D. W. Topping, M. D., aged 28 years.

A cloud of gloom was cast over the pleasant village of De Witt when the sad intelligence of Mrs. Topping's untimely death became known; a gloom which the melancholy manner of her death served greatly to increase. On Friday, the 17th inst., Mr. WILLINGS, a student in the office of Dr. Topping, was startled by shrieks proceeding from the house. On looking out, he saw Mrs. T. in the yard, enveloped in flames. Before he could reach her, however, her clothing was entirely consumed—scarcely a fragment being left; and she had fallen to the ground, insensible. Assistance being procured, she was taken into the house, where she showed signs of life. Messengers were at once dispatched for Dr. Topping, who was absent on professional business, and for Dr. BARTHOLOMEW, of Lansing. Dr. T. soon arrived, but the flames had done their fatal work too surely; nothing could save her life. She lingered about three hours, in a state of apparent insensibility, and then her spirit took its flight to the better land. Mrs. Topping was alone in the house at the time of the accident; hence how it happened, is unknown. It is supposed her clothes caught fire from the stove while she was engaged in her household duties, and that she attempted to extinguish it before rushing from the house; for when first seen she was completely enveloped in flames. Mrs. Topping was the daughter of one of our old citizens, DANIEL HURD, Esq., who resides near De Witt. She was born at Castile, Wyoming county, N. Y. When quite young her parents removed to Alleghany county, N. Y., where her early childhood was passed. Upon her parents emigrating to Michigan, when she was ten years of age, she was adopted by her uncle, ZIBA HURD, Esq., of Castile, with whom she lived until his death, in 1855, when she came to Michigan and resided with her parents until her marriage with Dr. Topping, in 1856. She leaves two little daughters, aged four and six years, thus suddenly bereft of a mother's care and love. It is seldom we have to mourn the departure of one whose loss will be more severely felt than that of Mrs. Topping. Only those who know her self-sacrificing spirit, her earnestness and truth in all the relations of friend, wife and mother, can fully realize the affliction that has come upon us. In every good work she was looked to for counsel and support; and her many deeds of unostentatious charity will long be cherished in the hearts of the recipients. Her uniform kindness and gentleness had endeared her to all, and her conscientious, cheerful performance of every duty could not fail to be an example and a help to those who came within the sphere of her influence. But if her loss will be thus deeply felt in the community, how must it be in that home where her presence was a constant joy—a continued blessing? No more will her hands be busied there in deeds of wifely and motherly kindness; no more will she soothe her infants to rest with the tenderness of a young mother's love; no more in that home circle will her voice, and smile, and all thoughtful deeds for those who are so dear to her, shed light and joy. She has gone; but God hath power to save what he hath made. Surely, one whose life was so spotless, who had learned to look with unfaltering faith to the dear Father of us all, and who showed her faith by her works, will dwell for aye upon the beautiful hills. Thus may the friends in that stricken home, and all to whom she was dear, know that though parted from her now, there cometh a time when they will meet again. Thus may they know

"She is not dead, but gone before
To that unknown and silent shore,
Where we shall meet as herebefore,
Some summer morn'g."

In the year of 1868, he was employed as clerk in general store of Charles Robson, of North Lansing, which position he occupied for five years when he purchased the dry goods stock of a Mr. Kern and entered business for himself, which he conducted for twenty-five years. As his business increased he removed his stock into the Schofield block now occupied by T. Rork. Mr. Hurd was twice married. In October, 1873, he was united in marriage to Miss Augusta L. Mr. Huston died about thirty-six years ago, Mrs. Huston removing to St. Johns soon after. Thirteen children were born to deceased, five of whom are living—David T. Huston, of Ludington; Henry B. Huston, of Grand Rapids; Mrs. E. G. Bement, of Maple Rapids; Mrs. M. A. Kniffin and Mrs. John Hicks, of St. Johns. Since Mrs. Huston gave up housekeeping, about twenty-three years ago, she has made her home with Mrs. Hicks, except two winters spent with Mrs. Kniffin. Deceased was a strong woman, mentally and physically, widely known and generally beloved. She was a member of the M. E. church, of St. Johns, and a consistent christian. The funeral will be held at the residence of Mrs. Hicks at 2 p. m. to-day, Rev. James Hamilton and Rev. C. G. Thomas officiating.

Abbie Dills queen bee of 'local brevities'

By KEN COIN

My wife has a tendency to read every word of any newspaper put in front of her. When we're on vacation, why she cares to read the Bugtussle Bugle is beyond me. I rarely read the newspaper myself. "No news is good news," that's my motto.

But, stick an old Clinton Republican under my nose and it will keep my attention for hours. Often when I'm doing history research one of the last sources I use is old newspapers. Not because they are a bad source; on the contrary, they're excellent. The problem is, I'm prone to become lost in the abyss know as... "local brevities."

If you don't know what the local brevities are, you must have grown up in a cave. Picture "Chatter by Char," and add a report of everyone who visited anyone or anyone who was visited by anyone, for a whole week plus what everyone had for Sunday dinner; throw in anyone who painted a room, bought a horse, installed a toilet or fell off a roof and you have "local brevities." They were the mainstay of local society. If it wasn't printed in the paper it wasn't worth knowing (unless of course it was gossip just too delicate to print).

The undisputed Queen Bee of DeWitt's correspondents was Abbie (Hutchins) Dills. Other correspondents came and went but it was Abbie who kept the local switchboard operator hopping throughout her many decades as correspondent to The Clinton County Republican News as well as the North Lansing Record, the State Republican, and the Lansing Press.

I have not been able to determine how far back she became a correspondent. In the late 1800's, DeWitt's correspondents used pseudonyms such as "Nonsense" (Charity Pearce), "Mercury," "One-Who-Was-There," etc. Personally, I believe "Mercury" was Abbie but that's just a guess.

Abbie Eliza Hutchins was born in DeWitt July 22, 1857, the eldest daughter of Ezra M. and Helen (Hurd) Hutchins. With the exception of only a few years, her entire life was spent in the DeWitt area. In 1880 she was married to Omar B. Dills. Following their marriage they purchased "Riverside Farm" on what would later be named Dill Road in their honor. Abbie died Feb. 27, 1941. Several descendants, including great-granddaughter Sue (Sibley) Powers, still reside in the DeWitt area.

The following is a sampling of Abbie's brevities from Aug. 25, 1921:

- Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brooks ride in a new Ford coupe.
- An 8-pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wilcox Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 23. He will answer to the name of Clifton Carl. Mrs. Wilcox was formerly Miss Doris Beach.
- Harry Reed is having his meat market shingled.
- The Chautauqua held in the village for three days last week was very much enjoyed, at the close of which arrangements were made to hold a similar event next year.
- C.C. Woodruff and son, Ralph in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown of Lansing started for Detroit Tuesday morning for a few days' visit.
- Mrs. Celia Lorenz and Mrs. Eva Cole spent Thursday at the home of Dr. Wheeler in Lansing, it being the ninth birthday anniversary of Elizabeth who has been ill some time. Elizabeth will spend the last of the week at the home of these ladies and would be glad to see her former playmates.

DEWITT GIRL BECOMES BRIDE

Miss Alice Padgett Marries
Menlo C. Hyde of
Lansing May 7

(By Abbie E. Dills)

Dewitt — An attractive spring wedding was quietly solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Padgett at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, May 7, 1927, when their only daughter, Alice Ruth, was united in marriage to Menlo C. Hyde of Lansing, with Rev. G. S. Northrup of St. Johns officiating.

The pink and white apple and quince blossoms with the wandering Jew vine made a springlike bower before which the bridal party stood. The bride was attended by Miss Wilhelmina Easton of Ypsilanti as matron of honor and R. C. Hyde of Greenbush, cousin of the groom, assisted as best man. The bride was charming in her gown of tan georgette over satin back crepe carrying a large arm bouquet of sweet peas with leafy fern tied with baby ribbon in knotted streamers.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Neva Padgett the party entered the room. The bride with her father who gave her in marriage, the ring service being said by her former pastor, Rev. G. S. Northrup. Miss Easton wore a green georgette over satin back crepe. The rooms were decorated in pink and white with large baskets of larkspur, snap dragons and narcissus with the green. The same color scheme was carried out in the dining room and table decorations. Just 40 years ago August 25th the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Padgett, were married by the same pastor, Rev. G. S. Northrup.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and guests were served a fine three course wedding supper with places for 65 guests, at the home of Mrs. Marie Hurd. The caterer, Mrs. Bunce of Lansing, was assisted by Mrs. Frank Easton and Mrs. Elmer Lankton. The guests were served by six of the bride's intimate young friends of Lansing, the Misses Virginia Gage, Thelma Page, Hazel Turk, Ruth Briggs, Kittie Vowler and Mildred Eggleston. A beautiful pink and white three tier wedding cake made by Mrs. Glen Padgett graced the bride's table.

The bride attended the St. Johns high school and graduated from the Acme Business College in Lansing, accepting a position in the Capitol National bank in Lansing where she has been for five years. The groom was a student of the St. Johns school and a graduate of the Lansing I. B. U. and still holds a position in Bean Spraying factory in Lansing, a position he has held for five years. Both young people have been very prominent in society. Guests from Jackson, Lansing, Elm Hall, Carson City and St. Johns were present. For the pleasure of the bride several delightful affairs have been given by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde are enjoying a honeymoon trip by motor to points in northern Michigan for one week. They will be at home to their friends after July 1st at 221 Virginia street, Lansing.
