A transformation has taken place at the corner of Webb and Turner roads in recent months. Somewhat like a butterfly emerging from the cocoon, an old boarded-up house scheduled for demolition has gradually been turned into a handsome modern living place ...thanks to the energy and imagination of an enterprising young couple.

The Cinderella story goes back to the time last year, when Sam Terranova purchased the abandoned house and lot, intending to have the building torn down and then sell the lot overlooking Prairie Creek Golf Course. His son Tommy felt he could do more with the property and asked for the chance.

Next, Tom, 27, and his wife Lynley, 23, sold their Lansing house and started on the renovation venture in DeWitt. No one had lived in the derelict house for nine years, but Tom found the building itself solid, constructed of sturdy hand notched oak.

Junk of many years duration had accumulated inside the structure, so the young Terranovas first had to clear out and remove bottles and all kinds of trash. With the assistance and advice of carpenter John Allen (John Allen Construction), Tommy gutted the interior and began tearing the wood siding off the 105 year old building.

Terranovas first had to clear out and remove bottles and all kinds of trash. With the assistance and advice of carpenter John Allen (John Allen Construction), Tommy gutted the interior and began tearing the wood siding off the 105 year old building.

The original house had a dirt-floored Michigan basement, no electricity or running water. They dug out the basement, replacing it with a usable modern basement and added a section above ground at the rear of the old house.

After the exterior wooden layer was removed, they covered the house with attractive Colony blue vinyl siding. The newly completed modern Terranova home has two bedrooms and bath upstairs - they retained and carpeted the circular stairway, modifying it a bit to do away with the steep steps - plus living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, one bedroom and large bath downstairs.

Terranovas can now enjoy dinner before sliding glass doors overlooking the golf course, while 34"x76" windows in the adjoining family room have the same view. On this spring's agenda, they say, is a deck to be built off the dining room on that same east side of the house. An attached garage will follow on the building's south side at a later date.

Tommy, who puts in about 60 hours a week as manager of Terranova's Thriftway in DeWitt, also doubles as Sunday morning chef at Sam's Kitchen, Terranova's popular restaurant. He's a graduate of Lansing Catholic Central, while Lynley Butler Terranova is a DeWitt High School product - Class of 1980. They have one son, Chad, nine-months-old, and are expecting a second baby later this year.

Despite a yard full of debris still to be removed after the renovation project and the landscaping work which accompanies any new home, Tommy and Lynley have accomplished an unbelievable amount of urban renewal in a remarkably short time.

I have known people to stop and buy an apple on the corner and then walk away as if they have solved the whole unemployment problem. - Heywood Broun

DEWITT SCHOOL BOARD ACTION

School board members asked Chris Campbell of Professional Services Industries, an engineering consultant firm, to pursue the lowest of four bid proposals on the new gym floor for the middle school at the April 8 meeting.

Since roofing work has only been partially completed by Marshall Roofing, a Garden City firm which had been assigned to the job, Campbell was asked to check into the matter too.

Campbell had been told to propose an engineering study of a humidity problem in the high school pool and locker room area, but the uncertain status of the roof and gym flooring projects may place that on the back burner for a while.

Contracts on all three building principals were extended for the 1985-86 year and Alice Scott was welcomed to the Scott School cafeteria staff. The Teacher and Employee of the Year committee will meet April 19 to make recommendations for the current year.

The board authorized sale of Bus #17, a 1978 19-passenger Chevrolet busette and approved repair of the athletic field sprinkler system.

Millage Vote Next Monday

A resounding "YES" vote is needed next Monday, April 22, in support of two millage proposals for the DeWitt School District.

There are two proposals on the ballot. The first is merely a renewal of the 24 mills total that have just expired in December or will expire next December.

Proposal II asks for three additional mills for three years, which will increase the voted millage for operation from 24 to 27 mills.

A number of dedicated folks have been holding coffees and informal gatherings to explain just how necessary a YES vote is to maintain DeWitt schools. These include parents, teachers, school board members and other interested citizens.

Their conclusion, after carefully studying the situation, is that passage of both proposals are necessary in order to continue providing a quality educational program in DeWitt. Failure of the millage to pass could mean reductions in staff, transportation, athletic programs, equipment or school supplies.

DeWitt Road and Bridge Street will enter the first phase of a six-month facelifting program today, assuming weather cooperates.

Workmen for Eastlund Concrete Construction, Inc., Holt, general contractor for the DeWitt Road/Bridge Street project, were scheduled to start April 15 on initial sewer and preliminary tasks.

According to company owner Victor Eastlund, men will be working on the entire section of road (approximately a mile in length), throughout the reconstruction project, rather than doing one portion at a time. Eastlund does not anticipate interrupting the traffic flow or having to close portions of the road during the reconstruction work. Estimated completion date for the project is October 15, Eastlund says.

In recent weeks, utilities have been working along Bridge Street, moving poles and preparing their equipment for the coming renovation.

NITROGEN ADDITION AIDS LAWN CARE

Proper nitrogen fertilization is essential in maintaining a good lawn. Nitrogen is important because it influences color; topgrowth rate (mowing); root growth; competition with weeds; susceptibility to diseases; moisture stress; high temperature stress and traffic. Both time of applications and rate of applications of nitrogen fertilizer are significant in how a lawn responds.

Most homeowners in Clinton County appear to want the kind of lawn resulting from two applications of nitrogen during the growing season. These should be applied about June 1 and September 1 at a rate of 1 pound of nitrogen per 1000 sq. ft. each time. If using urea fertilizer, 2 1/2 lbs. are needed per 1000 sq. ft. each time.

It's just in the planning stage, but you'll be hearing more about the DeWitt Public Schools Foundation first annual golf tournament. The golf outing will take place Saturday, June 15, at Prairie Creek Golf Course.

Organized last October for the purpose of attracting private funds for use in DeWitt schools, the foundation has spent most of its time to date in preliminary paper work, setting up its nonprofit tax exempt status and defining general guidelines, according to President Dianne Cranmer. The group's explanatory brochure is about to go to the printer.

When the Michigan Council of Cooperative Nurseries holds its two-day conference Friday and Saturday, May 3-4, at MSU's Kellogg Center, DeWitt Cooperative Preschool board members plan to take part in the action.

Bettina Brander, Cheryl Anderson, Linda Vernon, Joyce Spangler, Harriet Johnston and Stephanie Knapp will be among the 1200 or more delegates from preschools around the state in attendance.

Kathy Ciaramella is chairperson for the annual Mother-Daughter banquet which St. Jude Women's Association will sponsor Thursday evening, May 9, at the church.

Last year a record attendance of 425 were on hand for the dinner and program, which featured a bridal show with wedding gowns through the years from 1919 to 1984, modeled by parishioners, who wore either their own wedding gowns or one belonging to a mother or grandmother.

Again this year, the "Honeydews", Knights of Columbus volunteers, will lend an assist by serving the meal, helping mothers who must fill plates for toddlers, and otherwise performing as gracious hosts at the banquet.

The Reflections singing group will provide a musical interlude following the potluck dinner.

City residents who live south of the river will have trash pickup Thursday and Friday, May 9-10. Trash must be at roadside by 7 a.m. as streets will be covered one time only.

Farm Accidents Are Costly

During periods of financial strain, farm managers need to make an extra effort to minimize hazards and risks that can lead to accidents and huge medical bills.

"An accident that prevents someone from working is costly, especially on a farm," says Howard Doss, Extension agricultural safety specialist at Michigan State University. "The costs of an accident to a family member in care and lost work could push a family over the financial breaking point, especially if the one injured is a primary operator," he says.

All possible measures should be

Ask Local Groups To Assist Cleanup

Groups and organizations may volunteer to take part in a county-wide cleanup of roadside debris to be sponsored by the extension 4-H program next Saturday, May 4.

Groups or individuals, who are interested in getting involved in this years' cleanup effort, should contact Pam Zell in the Extension Office as soon as possible. Let her know the name of the group participating and the area of the county that you will plan to cover.

Once the initial information has been received from groups who plan to pitch in and help, final arrangements will be made regarding the location of the trucks for the dumping of trash. This information will then be shared with the group coordinators.

Each group will also receive a postcard that they will use to report their accomplishments during the cleanup effort. This information is to include the number of people who participate and the miles cleaned. Following receipt of this information, the McDonald's coupons will be distributed via the group leaders.

Swim Class Registration Is Tuesday

The "Learn-to-Swim Better" program sponsored by the DeWitt Swim Club for 8 & under boys and girls has reached the half-way point to completion. Under the direction of Todd Briggs, head Swim Club coach, the nearly 100 children have worked with Todd and the assistant coaches (Lynne Decker, Missy Waier, Kelly Smith, Tom Smith, and Randy Robison) on basic skills and comfort in the water.

especially if the one injured is a primary operator," he says.

All possible measures should be taken to reduce the farm hazards and risks. Make sure every family member and hired laborer knows and follows all of the proper farm safety procedures, and never allow a child to try a job he/she is not ready or able to do.

Doss says having family health insurance is mandatory, no matter how financially strapped the operator is. Health coverage can provide the necessary cushion to keep the farm afloat if an accident should occur.

The coaching staff is "gearing up" for the next group of swimmers....9 to 14 year olds....who have some swimming ability, but need coaching on strokes or endurance. PLANT THERAPY CAN HELP PEOPLE TOO

If you have compassion and patience and an interest in helping people and growing plants, horticulture therapy may be for you.

"Horticulture therapy is a process using plants and horticulture-related activities as tools to help heal and rehabilitate people with special needs," says Lee Taylor, Michigan State University Extension Horticulturist. "This therapy can be very beneficial to the mentally and emotionally impaired, the elderly, physically impaired, juvenile delinquents and prisoners."

The benefits of horticulture therapy are numerous. Intellectual development is stimulated by studying plant physiology, plant morphology and plant breeding. Group interaction develops social skills, cooperation, responsibility and leadership skills. Motivation and determination to care for plants result in emotional growth.

Horticulture therapy is as easy and inexpensive as teaching someone to germinate seeds in egg cartons or plastic cups. Some career opportunities are available in horticulture therapy and related fields. Contact Lee Taylor, 110 Horticulture Building, MSU, East Lansing, MI 48824 for more information.

"True," said the professor. "Your side wasn't doing too well."
