START WITH A FRESH TREE

If freshness in a Christmas tree is your principal concern, you can be most confident that your tree is fresh by visiting one of Michigan's choose-and-cut Christmas tree farms and cutting your own.

If you buy an already cut tree from a retail lot, you can also be assured of a top-quality fresh tree by following these tips from Michigan State University forestry specialist Mel Koelling:

- Check for freshness by bending a few needles. If the needles spring back to their original shape, the tree is fresh. If needles snap or stay bent out of shape, the tree is probably too dry.

- Bump the base of the tree on the ground. A shower of dry, green needles around your feet means the tree is dry.

- Feel the bottom of the tree trunk. On a fresh tree, it will feel moist and sticky.

When you get your cut tree home, whether you bought it already cut or cut it yourself, remove a half-inch slice off the base of the trunk and place the tree in a stand with a container for water. Making a fresh cut across the bottom improves the tree's ability to take up water and so slows drying. It may absorb water very rapidly for the first few days, Koelling points out, so you'll want to check it two or three times a day and refill the container as needed.

"The danger in allowing a tree to dry out is that dry evergreens are extremely quick to catch fire," Koelling explains. "It is nearly impossible for a fresh tree to ignite and burn, but a dry one will flash into flame in an instant."

To help keep your tree fresh, set it in a cool spot away from hot lights, heat registers or radiators, fireplaces, TV's or other sources of heat.

Check strings of Christmas tree lights before putting them on the tree. Discard any that have loose connections, empty sockets or bare wires showing.

Safety pays, especially during the holiday season. Buy a safe tree and then water to keep it safe!

SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

On Friday, December 2, 1988, a special activity for the DeWitt Public Schools and community as a whole was very successful due to many people working together. The National Christmas tree from the Huron/Manistee National Forest made a stop at our High School/Middle School complex and allowed our entire student body to become involved in a national activity.

It all resulted through my membership in the Lansing Sunrise Rotary Club which meets on a weekly basis at 7:30 a.m. at the Lansing Airport. Rotary Clubs along the route that the tree was transported from Cadillac to Washington D.C. were asked to become involved in providing a reception at areas along the way. Lansing Sunrise Rotary members asked me to make contact with the National Public Affairs Specialists from the United States Department of Agriculture. The results of that phone call started the plan for the exciting experience.

Many thanks to the Lansing Sunrise Rotary members for their support and to Mr. Ray Unger for creating the special Christmas card signed by K-12 students and staff. The card was sent to Washington D.C. in a special "envelope" with the special tree and will appear on national television during the lighting ceremony at 5:00 p.m. on December 14, 1988. Also thanks to Mr. Unger for the printing of the special

CORNER

As honors were being awarded at the recent DeWitt football banquet which I attended, I couldn't help but think how fortunate our entire community is to have such positive support of our athletic programs and how important athletic programs are to the overall school spirit. For example, the football players and cheerleaders were guests at assembly programs at Scott Elementary School and DeWitt Middle School. The younger students were most impressed with our team members and it certainly pointed out the fact that our high school students do set examples and have a great deal of influence on our young people.

We indeed have every right to be proud of our athletes. The football team, for example, was made up of not only excellent athletes, but athletes with outstanding academic records. They were also a team which worked well together and not one player displayed the "I'm the star" attitude. Of course, much of this positive attitude among the players is due to the excellent coaching demonstrated by our coaches. Head coach Gail Tharstan (who was also named all-area Football Coach of the Year) has shown outstanding leadership in team-building among the coaching staff.

Much of the success in all areas of athletics is the

As DeWitt City Citizens we hope you will join the DeWitt City Police and MADD in "Tying One On" your vehicle. You may pick up your red ribbon at the Police Department located in City Hall, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

We CARE that the holidays remain SAFE for family and friends, won't you join us in our effort to remind Citizens NOT TO DRINK AND DRIVE, and hopefully create a more peaceful and less violent holiday season?

The DeWitt Elementary PTA hopes that parents, relatives and neighbors will help support this program by sending their Food City register receipts to school with the children. Questions: call Linda Overmyer 321-6109.
