GLENN TURCOTTE GRADUATES FROM 42ND POLICE ACADEMY

Glenn C. Turcotte, a 1979 graduate of St. Johns High School, graduated from the 42nd Police Academy June 10, 1988, at the Criminal Justice and Law Center, Lansing Community College, Lansing.

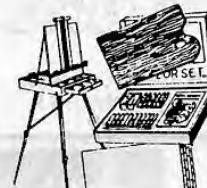

He is currently employed at Ingham County Animal Control as Deputy Sheriff.

Glenn resides in Lansing and his parents are Henry and Lurenia Turcotte of DeWitt.

FOR THE KIDS ...

Now is a great time to start your very own collection of something --- anything from stamps or rocks to dolls, bottle caps or postcards. Make a special place to store your treasures --- a shelf for dolls, a dime-store scrapbook for postcards or stamps, a cardboard box covered with gift wrapping paper or magazine pictures for storing rocks or bottle caps, etc.

Once you have chosen your project, you may want to get some information about it from the library. Then write down the most interesting facts on index cards and keep them handy so that you can teach others about your new hobby, too!

HOW TO AVOID STINGS

This article is borrowed from "Woodchips - The Landsculptor".

Many bees and wasps build their colonies in early spring, and are therefore fewer in number at that time. But by fall, a single colony of bees may have two to three thousand individuals. Thus, the chances of being stung will increase as the summer advances. Both gardens and fields of wild-flowers are likely to have bees and wasps, since flowers are their food source.

...Insects are attracted to bright colors. Khaki is an ideal outdoor clothing fabric --- not only is it pale in color, but it has a tightly woven texture that is not readily penetrated by an insect's sting.

...Do not wear perfume, scented lotion, or hair spray. These smells will attract stinging and biting insects.

...If a bee or wasp flies into your car, stop slowly and open all windows. A stopped or slow-moving vehicle will give the insect an opportunity to leave.

...If you are in a field and are attacked by several bees from a disturbed nest, run through the wooded or shaded area, where the leaves and branches will hinder their direct and speedy pursuit.

...Wasps are attracted by food; many species feed their larvae on the remains of picnics. If a wasp wants part of your snack, it is wise to give the food to this particular intruder, and hope it will leave of its own accord.

...Some people are more sensitive to stings than others. If someone in your group is stung and has a strong reaction, do not underestimate the seriousness of the situation; get medical help for the individual as soon as possible.

Dear Friend,

As a citizen and businessman doing business in the DeWitt area and Clinton County, I wish to inform you on what is happening in the DeWitt area. The Veterans Memorial in the DeWitt Cemetery has seen its best day. It was installed sometime between 1865 and 1867 by the G.A.R. It was entirely of concrete. Due to the years and weather, it no longer can be repaired. In fact, it can no longer be moved. Because of its historical value, it will remain in place.

Now what the committee would like to do is have a new one put in place in the new subdivision of the cemetery. This has been approved by the Cemetery Board and the City of DeWitt. The new monument is being made entirely at cost. The foundation is installed at no cost by Cressman Excavation and the concrete is being furnished by Boichot Concrete.

The only way we can raise the rest of the money for the monument and transportation is to appeal to the citizens of the DeWitt area. Any contribution that you can make will be greatly appreciated. You can give your contribution to the following members: John Spoelma, Funeral Director; Fred Grove, Tax Consultant; Russ Sibley, American Legion; Bethany Barris, VFW Auxiliary; Claude Murdock, VFW DeWitt.

Or you can mail your contribution to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 12250 S. US-27, DeWitt, Michigan 48820. Be sure to mark your check "Memorial Fund."

We hope to have the memorial in place by November for Armistice Day. However, this will depend on the generous gifts of people like yourself. I know that you have enough pride in your community to help make this project work.

Thanking you in advance, I remain in friendship ...

Sincerely yours,

SNACKS THAT KIDS CAN MAKE

During the summer it seems like snacking increases in families. The children are home and tend to eat more. They also love to be independent and get their own food. Easy nutritious afternoon snacks that they can make themselves will encourage this independence, provide necessary nutrients and build healthy snacking habits.

Fruit is always an easy snack. Oranges, apples, bananas or dried fruit are nutritious and easy to manage. Spreading the apples or bananas with peanut butter can provide an energy booster and some protein, too.

Yogurt is another easy after-school snack. The small snack-size containers will not dampen a child's appetite for dinner and will provide calcium and other nutrients. Mixing $\frac{1}{2}$ cup of yogurt with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup fruit juice and a half of a banana in the blender will provide a refreshing Smoothie. Yogurt is also good layered in a glass with cereals or fruit, like a parfait.

Low calorie dips can also be made with yogurt. Combining plain yogurt with taco sauce, French onion soup mix or herb seasoning makes a great dip for use with cut up vegetables or breadsticks. Snacking is easier when the vegetables are already cut up and waiting in the refrigerator. A bag of carrots can be prepared at the beginning of the week and stored in a tight container in some water until needed. When the carrots are gone, the water can be used in homemade or canned soup. Yogurt dip provides calcium and protein, and the vegetables are a good source of Vitamin A and other nutrients.

Other easy snacks include chesse and wheat crackers, peanut butter on celery, instant puddings and nuts. All of these snacks provide nutrients that contribute to your child's diet.

The July 28th Concert will feature Pat & Bill Trommater of Muir, a duo performing folk and country music vocals with accompanying guitar, fiddle and banjo. The Trommaters have performed throughout Michigan, presenting old favorites as well as many of their own compositions relating to family and rural American traditions.
