CREATIVE COOKING: "Cooking with the Circle of Hope," a new cookbook painstakingly prepared by the Women's Circle of Hope Lutheran Church, has just arrived from the printer's.

More than 300 mouthwatering recipes in the cookbook were collected from church members and local residents this year during the book's preparatory stages. Nancy Wolf, Betty Leppala, Joy Brewer, Barb Crapp, and Marlene Birgy are members of the committee responsible for the cookbook.

Circle members set their timetable earlier this year in order to have the cookbook ready in time for Hope's December 5 Christmas bazaar. The binder-type cookbook, now available from the committee members, sells for $5.

TOWNSHIP MINUTES

DeWitt Charter Township was enabled to function officially last week, following Governor James Blanchard's emergency appointment of an interim clerk and trustee. Township government had virtually been brought to a standstill since the August 18 election which recalled all four officials, paralyzing all but routine operations.

Former township clerk Donna Syverson, a Republican, was appointed to serve as interim clerk; Democrat Michael Murphy, owner of Murphy Beauty School, was named interim trustee. Both appointments became effective immediately from September 23 until the November 3 election.

Last Monday evening's township meeting - the first held with a full quorum which could officially conduct any business - handled a number of routine matters. Board members attempted to cover some of the important business, which has been awaiting action for more than a month without township officials.

A small August

- had helped to recall supervisor C. Frank Mann, clerk Greg Whitlock, treasurer Alta Catherine Reed and trustee Michael Verlinde.

Trustees elected Douglas Hammond chairman for the Monday meeting, in the absence of a supervisor. Most pressing matters to be handled now said clerk Syverson, are preparation of the 1988 township budget and adopting a millage rate for the Truth in Taxation hearing, which must be held. The time frame is pressing, she points out, so a special meeting date to begin preliminary work on the 1988 budget has been set for 7 p.m., Friday, October 9.

Trustees voted a property tax increase of 2.0773 mills for the Truth in Taxation public hearing which will be held Friday, October 9, at 8 p.m. While the actual millage, which represents a 3.587 increase, will probably not be that much, Syverson said, they were obliged to set some millage rate.

Trustees Bruce Angell and Charles Rademacher completed Monday's

TEACHER IN SPACE REP SPEAKS IN DEWITT TODAY

DeWitt Public School District has been selected and has made a commitment for involvement in a high tech teaching program for the 1990's, Superintendent Terre Davis announced last week.

Sharon Newman, Michigan's Representative to the Teacher in Space Program, will spend the entire day today talking with students, staff, and the community regarding a very special program involving the high tech networking aspects of satellites. This represents the initial step of a year-long program commitment with DeWitt schools.

Newman was recently awarded the Christa McAuliffe Fellowship by the Department of Education, Washington, DC, to work with schools interested in high tech networking using satellites.

Any interested citizens are welcome to attend any or all of the sessions today. Dr. Newman will be conducting assemblies as follows:

DeWitt Middle School	8 a.m.
Fuerstenau Elementary School	9:15 a.m.
Scott Elementary School	10:15 a.m.
DeWitt High School	2 p.m.

This program is a business/industry/education cooperative venture. Dr. Davis believes that DeWitt Public Schools "will certainly benefit from the talents and program leadership under the direction of Sharon Newman...DeWitt is proud to be involved in the experience that will challenge students to break through the boundaries of space and catch the wind on a flight to the future."

Local Artists Featured In Wildlife Art Exhibit

The second annual Wildlife Art Exhibit will be held throughout October at the Clinton County Arts Council Gallery, US-27 and North Clinton, St. Johns. An artists' reception open to the public on Sunday, October 22, from 1 to 5 p.m. will again feature many of the country's outstanding wildlife artists, most of whom are Michigan residents.

Of special interest will be the unveiling of Gijsbert "Nick" VanFrankenhuyzen's new Wild Wings Wildlife Art Print, plus several of Nick's original art works. "Nick" is from the Bath area. DeWitt artists Jean Blizzard, who works with prisma colored wax pencils, and Madeline Brockway, using watercolor medium, will both be exhibiting, including Brockway's piece recently judged runner-up in the Wildlife Art Competition sponsored by the Department of Natural Resources.

Original and prints by the following artists will contribute to making this a very outstanding exhibit: Susan Seigrist of Burton, James C. Gagnier of Roscommon, watercolor wildlife and sporting scenes; John Felsing of Mason, MUCC's Wildlife Artist of the Year for 1986; Russell Cobane of Clarkston, airbrush; Rod Lawrence of Kalkaska; Tim Widner of Lansing, and work by Mitch Smith, art director of Michigan United Conservation Club's "Tracks" magazine, in addition to outstanding wildlife photography.

Decoys in meticulous detail by Michigan, national and international award-winning wildlife carvers, will be exhibited in appropriate habitat, and new to the show this year will be exceptional examples of taxidermy diorama.

Lemm School Reunion Brings Back Memories

The first reunion in many years of the Lemm School in Olive Township was held at Sleepy Hollow State Park on September 13.

Two hundred former students, teachers, and parents came to renew old friendships and reminisce about the years spent at the "Red Brick School" on the corner of Bond and Chadwick Roads.

Out of state representatives came from Ohio, Arkansas, Illinois, and Oklahoma. Michigan residents attended from Benzonia, Houghton Lake, Perrinton, Hubbards-ton, Owosso, St. Johns, Laingsburg, DeWitt, Lansing, Lowell, Eaton Rapids, Springport, Kalamazoo, and Lawrence.

Erma Chadwick Beardslee was the oldest former student present. She will be 80 in January. Erma started school in 1914 and attended through the eighth grade. An accomplished pianist, she played the piano many years for the annual Christmas programs at Lemm.

Four generations of Erma's family went to Young and Gertrude Zischke Lietzke. Helen Young taught at Lemm for 18 years. She started her teaching career in 1926, right out of County Normal, teaching through 1932. Helen returned to teach again in 1948 and taught through 1959. She celebrated her 80th birthday in August.

Gertrude Lietzke became the teacher in 1943 and taught through 1945. She was hired again in 1959 and taught until the school was annexed to the St. Johns district in 1967. Gertrude, 84, lives near her daughter, Rachel Garrod, in Lawrence.

A former teacher, unable to attend because of illness, was Esther Lerg Kramp. Those attending the reunion sent the message, "We know you were with us in thought, Esther. Get well soon!"

A letter was received from Doris Whitlock Daniels, Lemm teacher from 1935 through 1937. Doris, who now makes her home in California, wrote of the many memories she has of the years she taught at Lemm.

Cloverbuds Give 5-8 Year Olds New Educational Experiences

Clinton County has developed a 4-H program for 5-8 year olds called Cloverbuds and interested parents are encouraged to contact the Extension Office at 224-5240. Several clubs have already been started and new clubs are being formed.

Many parents of 5, 6, 7, and 8 year olds feel the need to expose their children to educational experiences outside school. But these parents often have concerns about the types and the number of extra activities their children are involved in.

"At 6 and 7, children begin to see themselves as learning people," says Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service family and child specialist Chris Nelson. "They are leaving home and going to school and are ready to apply themselves to projects."

Five, 6, 7, and 8 year olds often have high energy levels and are best serviced by activities that keep both their minds and their muscles busy, Nelson points out. But she cautions against involving young children in specialized projects before they are ready.

"Exposure to a broad range of subjects helps youngsters see all of the possibilities open to them," Nelson says. "When they are older, they may decide to concentrate their interests in one specific area."

In many urban areas, there are programs through zoos, libraries, museums, and other cultural centers.

But in rural or sparsely populated regions, activities designed specifically for children in their early school years may be lacking. Recognizing the need for appropriate programming for this age group, the Michigan 4-H Youth program is making a commitment to developing programming for 6 to 8 year olds. Four-H has been a source of learning and enrichment for 9 to 19 year olds from every background and every part of the state for more than 70 years. But recent findings show that 4-H ideas and activities also appeal to the very young. In fact, Nelson says thirty thousand 6 to 8 year olds took part in 4-H in Michigan in 1986, memories she has of the years she taught at Lemm.

Charlotte Brass, 80, and Nellie Kristoffer-son, 81, were the oldest parents of former students in attendance at the reunion.

Janelle Shultz Blackmer was the youngest former student. She is the daughter of Gordon and Orita Shultz.

Lemm School will be 100 years old in 1989. Mr. and Mrs. Scott Younglove, who own the school and have made it their home, are planning another reunion in two years to celebrate the centennial.

October Week Honors Seniors

The Lansing Catholic diocese will hold Senior Parishioners Appreciation Week from October 12-16. Seniors in Ingham, Eaton, and Clinton counties are invited to attend an 11 a.m. Mass at St. Gerard's Church Tuesday, October 13. Lunch and entertainment will follow.

Reservations should be made by Tuesday, October 6 with Bertha Lenemann, 669-3127.

duled to open in late September, the new eight-mile stretch of I-69 freeway in Clinton County has had its opening delayed for about six weeks.

The segment, which cuts through DeWitt and Bath townships, extends from US-127 eastward to the existing four-lane highway (I-69) near the Clinton-Shiawassee county line. September's heavy rain has hindered construction progress on the eastern portion of the new freeway.

DeWitt and Bath townships officials had been scheduled to dedicate the segment with Michigan Department of Transportation representatives on September 25.

An engineer has developed an alternative to warning buzzers in autos. He hooks up a tape system to dashboard warning gauges. When he runs low on gasoline or fails to fasten his seat belt, his wife's voice lets him know. One tape shouts: "Your engine is overheating. I see steam. Do something!"

Michigan 4-H youth participated in the second annual State 4-H Fish, Wildlife, and Environmental Skills Contest held on September 12 in Lansing.

In this contest, county teams traveled over a challenging orienteering course. At points along the course, team members answered questions concerning fish, wildlife, and environmental processes. The course is designed to test their natural resources knowledge and to increase their environmental awareness. The eight county teams in the contest took up to one and half hours to complete the 1987 course.

Clinton County 4-H members who participated were Tresa Dault, Derek Dault, Carrie Schultz, and David Schultz.

young. In fact, Nelson says thirty thousand 6 to 8 year olds took part in 4-H in Michigan in 1986, even though there were no projects designed especially for them.

"The new 5 to 8 year old clubs will have some things that kids can specialize in, but will also allow members to sample a variety of standard 4-H projects," Nelson says. "We're planning to develop a leader's guide that will include portions of all the program areas that 4-H offers so that kids have a sampling of all the 4-H activities."

Arts and crafts, food and nutrition and animal science are likely candidates for the 5 to 8 year old study programs, which may be used in after-school and in home-based 4-H clubs. The materials will also be easily adapted to school curriculums.

"This is a wonderful age for children to begin to expand their world with learning activities like 4-H that encourage both thinking and doing," Nelson says.

OX ROAST REPORT: Final tallies are now in on the 41st DeWitt Ox Roast, according to Rodger Brown, DeWitt Memorial Association president. Total receipts amounted to $36,824 with expenses of $29,097, for a net income of $7,726 from the annual venture.

Receipts were down nearly $1,000 from 1986, Brown reports, but he estimates that high temperatures in the nineties may have had a lot to do with it. School Board Report

The 4th Friday enrollment report for DeWitt schools shows an increase of 46 students over last year, Superintendent Terre Davis told members at the October 12 meeting of the DeWitt Board of Education. Present enrollment in the four schools is 1,781 and Dr. Davis said that she anticipates continuing growth.

Pearce, who taught in Department of Defense schools in Georgia and Japan, has an extensive background in elementary PE. Phil Mackie, currently head Middle School custodian, will become the schools groundsperson effective in March 1988. NEW MEMBERS WELCOME: The DeWitt Lions Breakfast Club is looking for a few more good members. This local service organization gives something back to the community and fellow citizens - and the members have a good time doing it.

Breakfast meetings are held twice a month at Prairie Creek Golf Club - they begin at 7 a.m. and end at 8 a.m. sharp. If you're interested, contact Bob Ortwein, membership chairman, 669-3905.

McDONALD'S CARES: The McDonald's Cares $1.00 food certificates, which are financing the first leg of the space technology program in DeWitt Public Schools, are now available at all school sports events (at the concession stands), and at the high school, middle school and superintendent's offices. They will also be sold during upcoming parent-teacher conferences at the schools.

High school conferences are scheduled for Wednesday, November 4; K-8 grade parent-teacher conferences will be held Wednesday and Thursday, November 11-12. The food certificates can also be obtained by contacting any PTA or Booster Club member. McDonald's owner Charles McCann donated $6,000 in food certificates to assist DeWitt schools' high tech aims and finance the October 14-18 NASA space orientation course, which 10 DeWitt educators took in Huntsville, AL.

CITY COUNCIL NOTES

Following a presentation by Bill Dutton, CAN-DO executive director, and much discussion at the Monday council meeting, city council members approved DeWitt signing a contract to join CAN-DO for 1987-88. Dutton stressed residual benefits to the city from any businesses which CAN-DO brings into the mid-Michigan area.

DeWitt can soon expect to receive $18,000 in state money, which will be channeled into recreation, council was told. The city was awarded a state abandonment grant several years ago for the old sewer treatment plant; the grant, which was mistakenly sent to Bath, is about to be returned to DeWitt. With the funds, the treatment plant can be

Commissioners Discuss Jail

Six pro-jail members of the Clinton County board of commissioners held a press conference Tuesday to urge support for the November 3 jail millage vote. Commissioner Roger Overway says that the old jail can be expanded, while the other six do not believe that renovation will solve the problem.

Chairman Glenn Webster says that adding more cells to the present jail will solve only the jail housing crisis; he contends that the old jail structure blocks guards' view, posing a threat, and does not resolve security and storage problems.

Overway would prefer a $1.6 million jail expansion rather than the proposed $6 million, 80-cell new building.

Residents of Schavey Road north of Herbison have called city offices, thanking them for the recently installed 25 mph speed limit signs, since many children play in the area. The slower driving limits could be enforced officially following council's approval of the new traffic orders Monday night.

The DeWitt resident gave DeWitt schools $6,000 in food certificates this month to finance the first phase of the schools' high tech program.

Peace, who graduated from Michigan State University in a social science multidisciplinary program, moved to DeWitt township with her husband and their two teen-age sons a year ago. She wants honest, competent and quality government.

DEWITT OFFICE POLISHES MICHIGAN APPLES' IMAGE

Even if you missed the Michigan Apple Committee logo on the front door, the office decor would instantly make you aware of APPLES. They're everywhere ... framed apple art on the walls ... a cider press standing against one wall ... basket of fresh Michigan apples ... a larger than life plastic red apple and even the paperweight on the desk of the office, located on Schavey Road in the Dewitt Shopping Center.

Fall, of course, is the height of the apple shipping and harvest season and one of the busiest times of the year for Mark Arney, Michigan Apple Committee executive director, and his staff. The Dewitt resident took up his present assignment in 1980, replacing the late Fred Hasler, who has been "an institution" as MAC director for some 25 years.

What is the Michigan Apple Committee? Begun as the voluntary Michigan Apple Commission in 1939, Arney explains, the MAC grew into an apple grower program, "grower funded and grower operated" with manand frozen, that are sold in the country.

"We call ourselves the Flavor State because of the variety of Michigan apples," Arney says. That's also the reason for the Flavorbest MAC logo, which Michigan growers use. Michigan is considered a versatile state with Michigan growers now harvesting 20 different varieties. Popular favorites, varying with individual taste and use, are Red and Golden Delicious, Jonathon, McIntosh, Cortland, Ida Red, Winesap, Rome Beauty, Northern Spy, Paulared, Empire, and Mutsu/Crispin. The latter is a Japanese-American variety, a cross between Indo and Golden Delicious.

The MAC executive director does quite a bit of in-state travel and has two field staff people in Grand Rapids and Birmingham, who take the word about Michigan apples to out-of-state territories. Michigan apples, incidentally, are shipped far beyond state borders to Canada, Europe, South America, and the Caribbean.

Mark Arney, executive director of the Michigan Apple Committee, left, works in Dewitt with office manager Becky Ziel, center, and Pat Burke, director of administrative and industry services. Missing from the picture is Lynn Lass, part-time secretary.

MAC executive director Mark Arney recently acquired this "2 APPLE" license plate. The "2 Apple" plate designates Michigan's position this year as the second largest apple producing state in the country.

Churches Offer New Programs

A children's Christian Halloween party will be held at DeWitt Community Church, 505 Webb Road, on Saturday, October 31, from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Children 4 years old through sixth grade are invited to attend. There will be a movie, "The Mysterious Cabin," games and refreshments. Best costume will be chosen in the following categories: funniest, most colorful, old fashioned, best animal, and Bible character.

Northside Christian Church is offering a time/fellowship/food/prayer and fun event for kids as a Christian alternative to Halloween on Saturday, October 31. A bonfire, singalong, teaching, and games will be included. Information may be obtained from the pastor, Chris Kibit, at 321-6911.

The October 31 program will take place in the Kibit home, 642 West Sheridan Road.

OLD CLEANERS ARE STILL BEST

Vinegar makes an ideal solution for washing windows or mirrors. Add 2 tablespoons vinegar to 1 quart of warm water. After washing with a soft cloth or sponge, rub dry and polish with crumpled-up newspapers. Vinegar may also be used to brighten aluminum pans. Bring water-filled pan and several tablespoons vinegar to boil in the pan. Rinse and dry it. It will be beautiful.

Baking soda is a food product that may get more use today as a kitchen deodorizer. Washing the inside of the refrigerator with a solution of baking soda and water will make it smell sweet and fresh. Putting about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup soda in an open container in the refrigerator will help keep it that way.

Salt has too many household uses to mention more than a few. It has been used for years as a remover of burned-on food in enamel pans. It also works equally well on glass and ceramic baking dishes.

Salad oil is excellent for retaining moisture in wood products such funded and grower operated" with mandatory membership of the 1800 apple growers in Michigan. MAC receives no state monies, although it's a quasi-state organization operating under state enabling legislation and working closely with the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Arney points out that the Michigan Apple Committee does not sell apples directly; rather, it handles public relations and product promotion, creating ideas and a demand for Michigan apples. MAC and Michigan apple growers must be doing something right then, for Michigan, which used to be No. 3 behind Washington and New York states, now holds the No. 2 spot.

Washington is out front producing 80 million bushels of apples this year; Michigan in second place, produces 27 million bushels, and New York, 25 million. Arney says that 40% of Michigan growers' apples go into fresh consumption, the rest into juice and slices. In fact, he remarks proudly, Michigan produces 50% of all the apple slices, canned Caribbean.

State apple growers are constantly studying new strains to keep up with the expected demands of new consumers, and MAC's Research Committee works with horticulturists at Michigan State University pursuing that ideal.

Arney is immediate past chairman of the Market Development Division of the International Apple Institute's public relations program. The South Bend native had been Denver sales representative for the Washington Apple Commission before taking his present post in Michigan.

A food inspector during his four year U.S. Air Force stint, Arney earned his B.S. degree in food science and MBA in business from California Polytechnic University in San Luis Obispo. Arney, who now jogs three miles every other day, naturally eats "an apple every day." He and his wife Marla (who director last spring) have two daughters, Molly, 16, and Mindy, 7. He is vice president of Millbrook Homeowners Association and a former board member of DeWitt Memorial Association.

Assisting the MAC director with his promotion of Michigan apples here are office manager Becky Ziel; Pat Burke, director of administration and industry services, and part-time secretary Lynn Lass.

Attractive television commercials and literature about Michigan apples are part and parcel of the MAC's work. One recent news release on the famed Johnny Appleseed's historical background cites his descendant, Ralph Chapman of Lansing. Chapman is principal of Windemere View elementary school.

An informative apple usage chart for the various Michigan varieties and recipes are available, Arney says, to anyone who sends a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Michigan Apple Committee, 13105 Schavey Road, Suite #5, DeWitt, 48820.

Finally cast iron and tin have come back into vogue and with them the rust problem younger people are unfamiliar with. Iron and tin utensils rust when not thoroughly dried. Remove rust with steel wool or scouring powder, wash and dry pans thoroughly and rub treated areas with saltless fat or oil. Store in a dry place.
